PAST, PRESENT AND FUTURE: REALIZING THE POTENTIAL OF GENE THERAPY FOR NEUROMUSCULAR DISORDERS

DEAR COLLEAGUES,

Join us on Monday 14 September, 16:00 – 17:00 CEST for this AveXis-sponsored virtual educational symposium entitled: 'Past, Present and Future: Realizing the Potential of Gene Therapy for Neuromuscular Disorders'. You will have the opportunity to learn more about how gene therapy is evolving its role as a viable and durable option in the treatment landscape for neurological disorders. Our faculty of experts will use their experience to provide insight into the latest advances in gene therapy research, an introduction into neuromuscular disorders as well as standard-of-care guidance. To finish the program, you will have the opportunity to ask additional questions in a Q&A session.
